

Spanish Ladies

1. Farewell and adieu to you fair Spanish ladies Farewell and adieu, you ladies of Spain, For we've received orders for to sail for old England
 But we hope in a short time to see you again.

We'll rant and we'll roar like true
 British sailors We'll rant and we'll roar across the salt sea;
 Until we strike soundings in the Channel of Old Eng-I-and.
 From Ushant to Scilly is thirty-four leagues

2. We hove our ship to with the wind at the sou'west,
 We hove our ship to, to take soundings clear.
 In fifty-five fathoms on a fine sandy bottom
 We clewed our main tops'ls and up channel did steer.

3. Now the first land we made was a point called the Deadman,

Next Ram's Head, past Plymouth, Start,
 Portland and Wight
 We sailed then by Beachy, by Fairlight, and Dungeness,
 Then wholly cracked on for the South Foreland Light.

4. Then the signal was made for the grand fleet to anchor,
 All in the Downs that night for to lie.
 We stood by our stopper, and brailed in in the spanker, Haul all our clew garnets, let tacks and sheets fly.

5. Now let every man toss off a full bumper
 And let every man drink off a full glass
 And we'll drink and be merry and drown melancholy
 Singing, here's a good health to each true-hearted lass.

Notes:

A Capstan shanty - homeward, from 1769 or earlier.

Alternative Titles: Spanish Ladies, Farewell and Adieu

Place Names

Ushant - island off the westernmost point of Brittany.

Ushant to Scilly - usually sung as 35 leagues but sometimes 34 or 45.

"It's actually 38.7 leagues (187.0 KM)... But the distance from Ushant to Scilly had been used as an instrument of maritime law to determine the official length of the league, with the number increased or decreased depending whether the Crown wanted the league shorter or longer. Hence the song may correct, only outdated."

Deadman - Dodman Point, a headland near Mevagissey, Cornwall. Dodman means snail.

Ram Head - Rame Head, Cornwall, is a prominent hill west of the entrance to Plymouth Sound. (Eight miles south of Rame are the Eddystone rocks, along with the Eddystone Light.)

Start - Start Point promontory in Devon, by Start Bay, where the Dart emerges

Portland - Portland Bill, promontory on the Isle of Portland, Dorset

Wight - St Catherine's Point, the southernmost tip of the Isle of Wight

Beachy - Beachy Head (Jones puts Fairlight first!)

Fairlight - East Sussex, about halfway between Hastings and Winchelsea (Fairlight Hill presumably)

Dungeness - shingle headland, Kent. There have been seven lighthouses recorded here.

South Foreland - chalk headland five miles west of Dover, just before the Kent coast turns northward

The Downs - a roadstead, or sheltered area of sea, between Deal and the Goodwin Sands, between North and South Foreland - a very useful anchorage.

About other Words

league - the distance a person could walk in an hour, being 3 miles on land. At sea 3 nautical miles is about three and a half land miles. [wikipedia]

Fathom - six feet

Sandy bottom - sandy sea floor, such as occurs on or near a beach (land ahoy!)

Stoppers - to fasten the anchor onto the cathead

Spanker - a sail on the aft-most mast of a ship

Clew - a lower corner of a square sail, to which clew lines are attached,

Clew garnet - the tackle attached to the clew line.

Tacks - ropes attached to sails and leading forward

Sheets - ropes attached to the sails and leading aft
